Test valve Type MBV 3000

Heavy duty marine applications

The MBV 3000 test valve is designed for test of the Danfoss cartridge pressure transmitters within the marine industry.

The main advantage is the ability to test the operating transmitter through the test connection. A built-in shut-off valve gives the possibility to maintain transmitter without having to drain the system. After the transmitter is tested, the valve is manually re-opened and the transmitter is again connected to the system.

Features

- Compact design
- Direct connection into the measuring point
- Possible to position in all directions
- Flexible because transmitter and test coupling can replace each other
- Fast and easy to operate
